Tryout Evaluation:

What do coaches evaluate at tryouts?

1. Coachable
2. Attitude
3. Communication
4. Skills Assessment/Athleticism
5. TEAM play in game situations
6. Follows instructions & ask questions when something is not clear
7. Leadership
8. Instincts/Anticipating plays & ball movement
9. Intensity/Hustle/Effort
10. Handling diversity & pressure – In-game situations

Tryout timeline and offers:

1. Pre-tryout time - *Arrive early to register and player warm-up (first hour /45 minutes)
2. First 45 minutes - of tryouts will be Drills – Skills assessment
3. Next 40 Minutes – In-game evaluation
4. Last 20 minutes – Offers or wait list form handed out.

(*Note: All players may not receive an offer form or a wait list form.)

5. If you get an offer, please read it carefully for the deadline response date. You must reply by that date to accept or decline. If no response by that date, the coach will offer a player on their wait list. Please keep in mind, if you do not plan to commit then you need to let the coach know ASAP so the next player in line may be offered.
6. Players that do not receive an offer, may ask the coach for feedback on where they need to improve. We encourage it!

*Remember there are only so many positions available on a team. Generally teams will have 9-10 players on a roster.

Example: A team may only need two Defensive Specialists and there are 8 defensive specialists trying out. Although all the players are skilled there may only be room for two spots for this position on the team. The two spots will be offered and if only one accepts the coach will contact the next DS on the wait list and offer them a spot.

7. *This is where the wait list comes into play for many players. Many times offers go out and may not be accepted for one reason or another. Please do not get discouraged if you are on the wait list. Many times the players on the wait list do get an offer email. It also means that the coach noticed your skill set.

Please let us know if you have any questions about the tryout process. We will be glad to assist you and your daughter.

Thank you for trying out for Adrenaline Volleyball Club!
