If a wrestler is over the weight limit for their age group the wrestler may go up one age group if they have wrestled 2 tournaments during the year

Heavyweights for regional: A wrestler must weigh within the perimeters of the weight class. If they weigh less than the lowest heavyweight class for their age group and have not wrestled twice for that weight class they are not eligible to wrestle at regionals. (ie: a wrestler wrestled all year in a Hwt. class at 13-14 at regional only weighs 170.0 with his two tries at weigh-in and has not wrestled twice at 170 he cannot wrestle at regionals.

For finals heavyweights must be the weight they qualify for at regionals ie:
If a wrestler is 11-12, 179.8 lbs. at regionals they must still weigh between 158.1 and 183.0 to wrestle at finals.

There is no weight allowance for Heavy Weights at Finals.
